

Broads Authority

Display of Registration Marks and Tolls Plaques

Broads Authority Vessel
Registration Byelaws 1997

The Broads Authority Vessel Registration Byelaws 1997 require that every vessel moored, used or navigated in the Authority's Navigation Area must be registered with the Authority and that the Registration Marks issued by the Authority must be conspicuously displayed on the vessel. The byelaws also require that the appropriate toll for the vessel must be paid and the Tolls Plaques displayed on the vessel in such conspicuous position as the Authority shall determine. Failure to comply with these requirements is an offence which may lead to conviction and a fine of up to £1,000.

Registration Marks

The Authority issues self-adhesive Registration Mark Plaques (three per vessel).

Alternatively plainly and conspicuously painted Registration Marks or screw on numbers are permitted. Characters must be plain, not stylised, and must be applied on a contrasting background.

The Registration Marks must be of the correct size, that is 90 mm (3½") for motor cruisers and most powered craft, 50 mm (2") for sailing craft.

Display requirements for various types of craft are set out below. Replacement plaques and numbers are available from the Authority's head office. The Registration Mark remains with the vessel until it is destroyed or permanently removed from the Broads. Do not remove the Registration Mark on sale of the vessel.

Tolls Plaques

The Annual Tolls Plaque has an oval design. Two plaques are issued per vessel, to be displayed as set out below. The plaques are annually colour coded.

Display of Registration Marks and Tolls Plaques

Where display of Registration Marks is required "on both bows and on the stern" (see below) they must be displayed on each side of the hull of the vessel within approximately 2 metres of the bow so as to be clearly visible from other vessels or the bank, and on the stern of the vessel so as to be clearly visible from behind.

Registration Marks must not be wholly or partially obscured by fenders or fender lan-yards or by dinghies in davits etc.

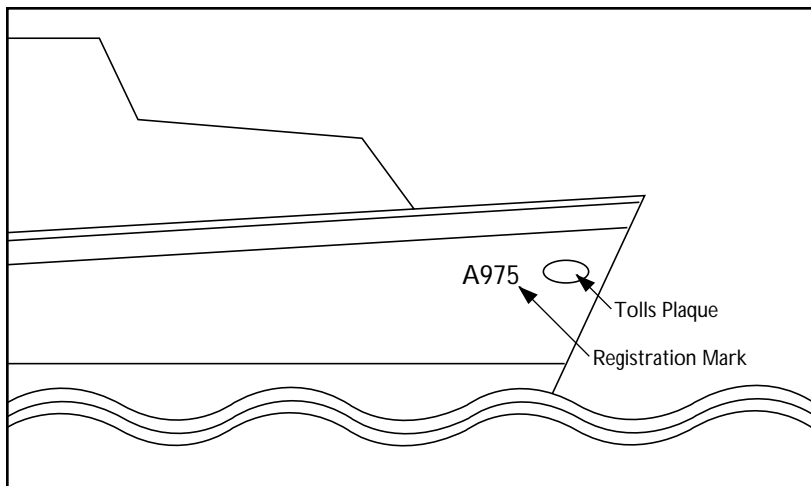

It may be necessary to repeat the marks to avoid this.

Registration Marks must not be displayed on the superstructure, cabin sides or upper-works of a vessel or in cabin or wheelhouse windows.

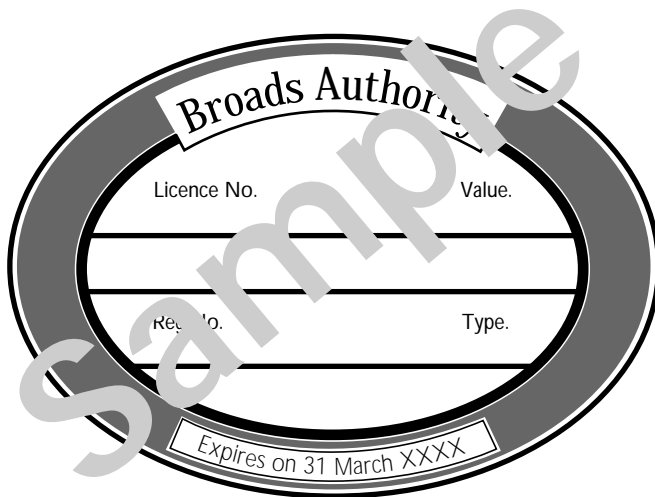

Yachts may display Registration Marks (and Tolls Plaques) on a board securely suspended beneath the bowspit, visible both sides.

Vessels with permanent guard rails round the deck edge may display Registration Marks and Tolls Plaques on boards securely mounted on the guard rails near the bow.

The tolls plaques and Registration marks must be affixed to a clean, dry surface.

Tolls Plaque (not actual size)

Where the Registration Mark is obscured by a protective cover (whether temporary or permanent) the cover must carry a facsimile of the Registration Mark clearly visible from both sides of the vessel.

Tolls Plaques should be affixed to the hull of the vessel adjacent to the Registration Mark, one plaque on each side (unless stated otherwise below).
